

Arkansas Social Workers in Health Care Ethics Webinar

Use of Humor in Treatment - What's So Funny About Pain and Suffering?

December 11, 2020

1:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m.

(Log-in 10 minutes prior to meeting start time)

Objectives

- Discuss how values affect the practice of service delivery and realize how your values could aid or compromise your approach to ethical treatment of clients/patients
- Identify opportunities to apply ethical standards and concepts through practice scenarios and discussion
- Describe participants' body of knowledge regarding academic and treatment resources that can aid in resolving ethical dilemmas

Presenter

Don Streit, MSW, LCSW is a clinical social worker for New Opportunities, Inc. He earned a master of social work in 1977. He taught core graduate school courses, including ego psychology, CBT and personality disorders, group therapy, and spirituality and social work since 1992. Don has maintained a private practice since 1988. Having presented at workshops since 1997, his topics have included Jungian topics such as the shadow archetype; dreamwork interpretation; spiritual approaches to treatment; and hero's/heroine's journey. Don has presented ethics for social workers since April 2016.
